A classroom in 2050 – the first plan

Layla went to a youth centre on Wednesday at 10:45. The group wanted to check a route. At first, the plan was easy to follow. Then the planned route was closed. Layla asked the organiser for help. The group decided to choose the marked alternative route. In the end, the group finished its main task. Layla wrote the new information on a card so that everybody could read it. The group was happy because it had solved the problem together.

A classroom in 2050 – what changed

Daniel went to a small workshop on Friday at 9:30. The group wanted to plan a class activity. At first, the plan was easy to follow. Then one participant needed a different entrance. Daniel asked the organiser for help. The group decided to use the accessible entrance and add clear signs. In the end, the final poster was clear. Daniel wrote the new information on a card so that everybody could read it. The group was happy because it had solved the problem together.
